TRUST AND TRUSTEE REPRESENTATIONS. The Trust and the signed Trustees (if more than one, then jointly and severally) hereby represent, warrant, and agree as follows:

1. The Trust, the Trustees, the person(s) designated to give investment instructions on behalf of the Trust, and any other fiduciary with respect to the Trust will not engage in, nor permit the Trust to engage in any "prohibited transaction" (as defined by applicable statute and regulations).
2. The Trust, the Trustees, the person(s) designated to give investment instructions on behalf of the Trust, and any other fiduciary with respect to the Trust will maintain all required and necessary records, and will give any documentation reasonably requested by you.
3. The Plan's definition of the term "fiduciary" is not so worded as to include the normal functions of a brokerage firm, either directly by naming brokerage firms as "named fiduciaries," or indirectly within the scope of the definition.
4. Only applicable to internal brokerage accounts, to the extent that a participant is designated in this Certification to direct investment of his/her Plan account, the Trustee certifies that the Plan and Trust permit self-direction of investments by the participant, including investment in one or more advisory programs maintained with/or advised by the Introducing Firm.
5. You do not sponsor prototype plan document services for any of the plan types listed under Nature of Plan on the previous page. You do not review, hold, or maintain any plan or trust documents, including adoption agreements, on behalf of the Plan or the employer.
6. You do not serve as a Trustee, Custodian, or Plan Administrator for the Plan.
7. First Clearing and Introducing Firm are not responsible for the plan administration functions, which include, but are not limited to the following:
 - a) Appointing and hiring the Trustee(s) and third party administrator/provider of their retirement Plan document. The employer will rely on their third party administrator/provider of their retirement Plan document to keep the Plan document in compliance with applicable tax rules and regulations. The account(s) for the Plan should not be funded until the Plan document has been completed and executed by the employer and Trustee of the Plan.
 - b) Withholding and remitting income taxes on distributions and disbursements from the Plan and issuing IRS 1099-Rs in accordance with applicable law.
 - c) Administering the Plan, providing Plan benefit statements to participants in accordance with the content and delivery requirements of applicable law and maintaining all Plan records, including the qualified plan document (should be kept for the life of the Plan by the plan administrator).
 - d) Overseeing all Plan fiduciaries and hired professionals to ensure they are operating in the best interest of the participants.
 - e) Determining participant eligibility.
 - f) Calculating contribution amounts.
 - g) Calculating required minimum distributions (RMDs) and deemed distributions.
 - h) Determining whether a domestic relations order is qualified and shall notify the participant and the alternate payee of its determination.
 - i) Collecting and maintaining beneficiary designation records for participants in the Plan. WFA does not provide beneficiary designation forms, retain a copy of the completed beneficiary form or include beneficiary designations on the qualified Plan account registration. The plan administrator also keeps current addresses on file for all participants who have assets in the Plan, even if no longer employed.
 - j) Providing all required applicable notices to participants and/or beneficiaries including special tax notice on distributions.
 - k) Preparing and timely filing of the applicable IRS Form 5500 for the Plan.
8. As fiduciary, the plan administrator and Trustee(s) are required to carry out his or her duties with respect to the Plan solely in the interest of the participants and beneficiaries. The employer must ensure that the Plan remains qualified by operating the Plan in accordance with the Plan documents and all applicable laws. Failure to carry out these duties with "due care, skill, prudence, and diligence" could result in fiduciary liability and could disqualify the Plan.
9. The employer may establish one or more accounts for the Plan. The employer or the Trustee will provide the Introducing Firm with the employer identification number (EIN) or the tax identification number for the Plan if operating under separate TINs. Identification Number (EIN), which cannot be a Social Security number, for purposes of identifying all accounts related to the Plan. A sole proprietorship is required by the IRS to obtain an EIN when the sole proprietorship is establishing a pension, profit sharing, or retirement plan. (See IRS Publication 1635.)
10. The Trustee's responsibilities include, but are not limited to the following:
 - a) Overseeing the Plan's assets and determining the Plan's investments are permissible according to the terms of the Plan.
 - b) Assuring that all distributions and disbursements requested are in accordance with the terms of the Plan and applicable law. Distributions and withdrawals (if permitted under the Plan) are allowed only with the Trustee's written consent on all distribution forms.

NOTE: Only for brokerage accounts held with the Introducing Firm, we must receive distribution instructions from the Trustee before funds may be distributed. Payments will be issued as directed by the Trustee. If there are multiple Trustees, each Trustee listed in this Certification may take such actions without the consent of the others and the signature of only one Trustee is required to effect transactions and enter into agreements under the Plan.

SUBSEQUENT CHANGES. We agree to inform you, in writing, of any amendment to either the Plan or the Trust, any change in the composition of the Trustees, or any other event which could alter the representations and certifications made above.

PARTICIPANT, TRUST, AND TRUSTEE REPRESENTATIONS. The participant (if Participant is signing below), Trust, and the signed Trustees (if more than one, then jointly and severally) hereby represent, warrant, and agree as follows:

Because you and your employees are prohibited from giving the Trust legal advice, it is hereby agreed and understood that neither you or your employees or agents has any responsibility with respect to the legal or tax aspects of the Trust.
